GROCERY STORE EMPLOYEE BREAKROOM - DAY

A small group of new hires are all seated and facing the front of the room where one of the managers, WALTER, a tiger dressed in business casual, is speaking and leading the orientation.

WALTER

You are to come to work, dressed in uniform. Cashiers wear aprons, the stock crew wears smocks.

Before they can speak, we hear some commotion happening behind them coming from the back of the room. It's another manager, FLIP, a walrus, entering the room.

WALTER (cont'd)

Be on time. If your over 2 minutes Past your shift start time, You'rrrrrre Late! (like Tony the Tiger) Last but not least, no inter-company Dating! That's how unions start and We can't risk anyone unionizing. Got it?

FLIP realizes WALTER said that first part towards him, resets himself, and nervously looks to see if anyone is reacting. DOMINO, A Dalmatian, and one of the new hires for stocking, raises his paw.

DOMINO

Excuse me. I have a question.

WALTER

Yes, there in the 3rd row. What Is it?

DOMINO

Do we get breaks? Like a few minutes to run around aimlessly, or chew some shoes, or sniff a couple of butts?

WALTER

Thanks for that stupid question. All breaks must be authorized by your department supervisor. Cashiers, you answer to me. The stockers, you answer to the ever so punctual FLIP back there.

DOMINO Fantastic. Good to know.

STARLETTE, a domestic house cat, hired as a cashier, also raises her paw with a question.

STARLETTE What happens if we get a hair ball during our shift?

WALTER

Happens to the best of us. Just try to cough it up into a bin. There's one under every register.

A RANDOM NEW HIRE Or you could stop licking hairy balls! (Snickers to himself)

WALTER

You! (pointing to the heckler) You'rrrrrrre Fired!

RANDOM NEW HIRE, looks around, then leaves the office with a look of defeat.

WALTER (cont'd) Now, let's tour the store. Cashiers, come with me. Stockers, go with FLIP.

CUT TO:

FLIP is leading the group, waddling down the aisles; or however walruses move while on land, as he explains the job description.

FLIP

(in a country/southern accent) Howdy, Howdy. Glad ya'll made it aboard our crew.

There's 3 of them in total. Domino, another new hire, and FLIP.

FLIP (cont'd) So the job is pretty simple. Stuff comes in, ya'll put it out on the shelves. Then the cashiers ring 'em up, the store makes a profit, we make a small percentage and WALTER is a jerk.

DOMINO

Wait, what was that last part? Did you say the cashier manager is a jerk?

FLIP

(Startled) Huh? Oh! Did I say that last part out loud? No, no, never mind. Just try to avoid mingling with the cashiers and WALTER. (Muttering to himself) That lazy bastard.

DOMINO and the other new hire exchange looks as they pass a giraffe restocking one of the top shelves.

FLIP

(Nodding to the giraffe) This is Hightower, he can help with the hard to reach shelves.

HIGHTOWER

Hey you two. Nice to meet ya'll. (Sticking out a hoof in a high five motion) Up top.

FLIP

Very funny Hightower, now let's get back to work. Those tampons aren't going to re-stock themselves.

DOMINO

So I was told we get a few breaks during a shift. How soon are we allowed to take one?

FLIP

Are you serious? You haven't even started work yet! This is just a tour of the department and you want to take a break already?

DOMINO

Oh. Ugh... (looking panicked) not for me, I was just asking for the other new employee. (pointing over to the confused looking new hire) I just figured we've covered a lot already.

OTHER NEW HIRE

Well, since you mentioned it, I suppose I could get off my feet for a few minutes.

FLIP

What, how!? We've only walked A few steps!

DOMINO

Easy for you to say, you don't have feet. What do you stand on anyway, your belly?

Suddenly, the store intercom makes a noise and WALTER is heard through the intercom speaker

WALTER

I need a price check for tampons on aisle 7. I repeat, I need a price check for the tampons on aisle 7. Thanks.

FLIP

Okay, sounds like we're needed. Tell ya what, run these lady supplies up to the cashiers and then maybe you can get a break. Domino grabs one of the tampon boxes and heads towards the front of the store.

FLIP (calling after him)Remember, avoid mingling!

CUT TO:

Front of the store, DOMINO walks past a row of cashiers and registers, holding out the tampons. He's yelling out, with a sea of cashiers and customers with appalled looks on their faces.

DOMINO

Someone need some tampons? I got the tampons here! TAMPONS!?

WALTER

Cut that out! Quit yelling about the tampons. They're needed for a price check at register 4. Go drop them off to STARLETTE and return to stocking the shelves!

DOMINO

Register 4, got it.

DOMINO walks up to the register while an embarrassed looking customer and STARLETTE are awaiting the correct price of the tampons

STARLETTE

Oh, there you are! Thanks for bringing these.

DOMINO

(Flustered by STARLETTE) Oh, yeah... ugh, sure thing! No problem... just doing my job!

CUSTOMER

You might want to hold on to those tampons, honey. You're about to make a puddle with all that drooling. END OF PILOT EPISODE APPROX 5-6 minutes
